

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to provide this letter of recommendation for Flint Building Company.

I have had the privilege of working with Wright for many years, and my relationship with him predates the formation of Flint Building Company. Throughout that time, I have come to know him as a man of integrity who values relationships, honors his commitments, and consistently strives to do the right thing.

What sets Wright apart is his long-term perspective. He understands that successful construction projects are built on trust, accountability, and strong partnerships. Whether working with owners, subcontractors, suppliers, or clients, he approaches every relationship with professionalism, fairness, and respect.

Since founding Flint Building Company, Wright has built an organization that reflects those same values. Rather than focusing on short-term gains, he is building a company designed for the long haul—one that is committed to quality, reliability, and maintaining the trust of those it serves. In an industry where reputation matters, Wright has earned the respect of the people who work with him because he follows through on his commitments and conducts business the right way.

As a subcontractor who has worked with Wright for many years, I can confidently recommend both Wright Woodall and Flint Building Company. They are a valued partner, and I look forward to working with them for many years to come.

Sincerely,
