To Whom It May Concern,

It is my pleasure to provide this letter of recommendation for Flint Construction and Wright Woodall regarding the Lamar County Animal Shelter project. As Chairman of the Lamar County Board of Commissioners, I had the opportunity to work closely with their team throughout the duration of this project, and I can confidently say their performance exceeded expectations in every major area of construction management and delivery.

The Animal Shelter project involved the construction of a new facility that serves an important role in our community. From the beginning, Flint Construction and Wright Woodall approached the project with professionalism, organization, and a clear commitment to quality workmanship.

One of the most impressive aspects of the project was their ability to maintain the construction schedule while also remaining within budget. Deadlines and timelines were consistently met, and any challenges or unforeseen conditions that arose during construction were handled quickly, professionally, and with practical solutions that kept the project moving forward.

Their management of subcontractors, coordination with the design team, and handling of project documentation, RFIs, and submittals was efficient and well organized throughout the process. Communication with county staff was always responsive, transparent, and respectful, which made the working relationship smooth from start to finish. The quality of workmanship on the Animal Shelter was outstanding. The finished facility reflects careful attention to detail and adherence to project plans and specifications.

In addition, the project was managed responsibly from a financial standpoint. Billing and change orders were handled appropriately and professionally, subcontractors and suppliers were managed effectively, and to my knowledge there were no significant disputes or claims during the course of the work. Their team maintained a professional and organized work environment and demonstrated compliance with project safety expectations throughout construction.

Based on our experience with the Lamar County Animal Shelter project, I would not hesitate to work with Flint Construction and Wright Woodall again in the future.

Sincerely,

Ryran Traylor, DrPH

Chairman, Lamar County Board of Commissioners
